VOID ORIENTATION GUIDES

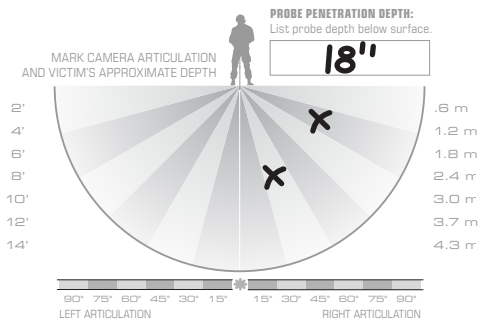

VOG INSTRUCTIONS

Use this Void Orientation Guide (VOG) to indicate a victim's position. The guide can then be handed off to other rescue personnel.

1. After locating the victim, estimate the distance the victim is from the void hole.
2. Based on the clock drawn, estimate the victim's position in relationship to the hole.
3. Mark the two coordinates on the VOG.

4. With the camera probe perpendicular to the external surface plane, determine the camera articulation. This is shown on the Searchcam video display in 15 degree increments.
5. Determine the probe's penetration depth below the surface and list on the VOG.
6. Estimate the depth of the victim from the void surface.
7. Plot coordinates on the VOG.

8. Mark VOC (Void Orientation Coordinates) along with appropriate FEMA victim location markings on void surface and the VOG. See flap for more information and marking examples.

SEARCH MARKINGS

Victim Location Marking

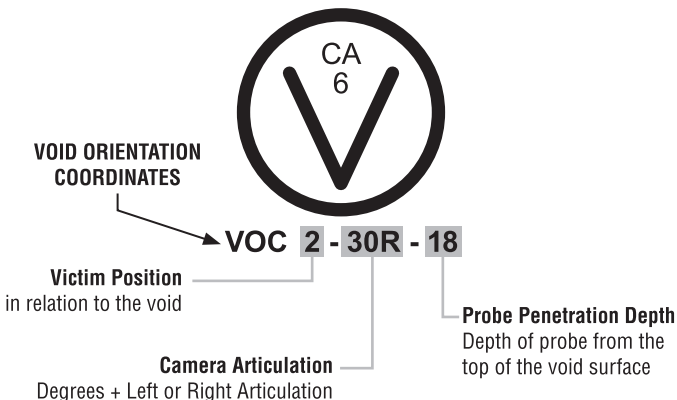

Victim location markings are to be marked in orange spray paint.

Void Orientation Coordinates

Void Orientation Coordinates (VOC) are settings used with certain Searchcam equipment in order to relocate a victim. The settings should be marked in orange spray paint below a victim location marking.
